CADY'S YOUTH ADVOCACY AND ADVISORY COUNCIL (YAAC)

We're on the lookout for new recruits!

The Youth Advocacy and Advisory Council (YAAC) takes positive action to impact their community and environment by raising awareness of difficult topics like mental health and substance misuse.

Through interactive learning activities with young children, engaging PSA projects, spreading awareness through peer-to-peer education, and working to change local and state-wide policy, the YAAC are a large part of the solution by preventing problems relating to substance misuse, and mental and physical health!

BE A CHANGE AGENT! TAKE ACTION! EFFECT CHANGE!

What We Love About YAAC

LEO EBNER & HUNTER MCLEOD

"Our favorite part of YAAC was getting to hear ourselves in the radio PSA we made!"

ADDI ENGLUND

"My favorite part of YAAC was making the PSA Posters to spread awareness throughout the district."

TAYLOR MAINE

"My favorite part of YAAC was being able to positively impact the community."

ANNA CIECHON

"Being a part of CADY YAAC was one of the best decisions of my life. Made a big impact on me to help my community!"

MELODY SACKETT

"I was with YAAC for a few years and enjoyed every aspect of it. It felt great to be a part of such a welcoming organization working towards a collective goal to better the health of our youth, and I recommend this experience for everyone!"

THEADORA STARK

"The YAAC program provided me with an opportunity to develop leadership, presentation, and cooperation skills that I use daily as a college student. I know that the experiences that I gained while making a positive impact on my community will be used and carried with me throughout my life! "

CALIE MCLEOD

"My favorite thing about being a part of YAAC was the ability to spread awareness about the dangers of drugs and alcohol in youth-friendly manner alongside my peers."

NORA DOYLE

"YAAC is an amazing way to get involved. Not only do you get to work toward positive change, you also gain so many valuable skills (leadership, project planning, public speaking, and networking to name a few) that will serve you well for the rest of your life. Not to mention it's so much fun! I highly recommend joining YAAC."

MOLLY BROWN

"The YAAC program taught me the importance of young peoples voice in prevention and empowered me to be that voice. It's a unique opportunity to be heard. It also gave me experience in research, community outreach, interviews and public speaking that I have used in college and beyond!"

TROY WARNER

"CADY was a great way to get involved and make a difference in your community. It helped me greatly with skills such as public speaking and organization. Some of the kindest and most genuine people I have ever met worked at the CADY office and really changed my life."
